

Andy John

VP of Technical Support
Riverbed Inc.

Andy has held several senior positions in technology companies in Silicon Valley and is currently Vice President, Global Technical Support at Riverbed Technology a leader in Digital transformation and application performance. Andy is currently responsible for service delivery through a network of support staff distributed across 15 support centers around the globe and his role requires frequent long distance travel.