

Bruce Finch is the Director of Global Travel and Workplace Sustainability Programs for Autodesk, Inc., the world's leading 3D design software and digital content company based in San Rafael, California.

Bruce has over 25 years of varied travel industry experience on both the supplier and buyer side including such companies as Eastern Airlines, The Gillette Company and FleetBoston Financial.

Bruce received a Bachelor's Degree in Geography with a Certification in Travel and Tourism from Salem State University, achieved CTA and CTC certifications from the Institute of Certified Travel Agents, and CCTE and GTP certifications from GBTA.

Bruce served as chairperson of the technology committee for NEBTA, co-chaired the former NBTA technology committee, and was the US Representative on the Board of Directors for the Association of Corporate Travel Executives. Currently Bruce serves on the Salem State University Travel and Tourism Advisory Board and the GBTA Sustainability Committee.