

Patrice is passionate about creating and defining new products for the corporate travel arena – He is currently managing the innovation group at Carlson Wagonlit Travel. Based in Minneapolis, Minnesota, he reports to Andrew Winterton, President Suppliers, Products and Technology.

Patrice has a broad experience in travel and distribution having joined Carlson Wagonlit Travel in 1998 working for the North American region within the technology group. Patrice moved to CWT's Paris Headquarters in 2000 to lead the EMEA product delivery team. He became CIO for the French market in 2006 and then headed the Global product delivery for all CWT transactional products until 2009 – Patrice is responsible for product Innovation since 2010.

Patrice, a French citizen, holds a masters degree in Physics from ESPCI Paris Tech and worked as a researcher at the Los Alamos National Laboratory in New Mexico for 2 years before joining CWT